4. Contingent Bequest

If you are considering making a contingent bequest of your estate to the Morgridge Institute for Research Foundation, we recommend the following language:

5. Restricted Bequests

A restricted bequest is one that identifies a specific intended use for the gift. You may specify one of the program areas of the Morgridge Institute in your bequest, depending on what part of our mission you're most passionate about.

If interested in directing a restricted bequest to the Morgridge Institute, please call us at 608.316.0868 or email at BSwisher@Morgridge.Org. Our aim is to make sure we fully understand your intention so that you can realize your philanthropic goal.

Priority areas for specified giving include:

- Support for young scientists – The future generation of scientific leaders are here now. A contribution to our young scientists provides crucial resources to launch their careers.
- Educational Programming – You can spark curiosity about science throughout the state and country. Morgridge's renowned free or reduced cost educational programs serve thousands of kids and adults annually.
- Support Morgridge Research – Demonstrate your commitment to curiosity driven research. Help Morgridge scientists fight deadly diseases and contributing new research to stop cancer, heart disease, HIV/AIDS and much more.

Regardless of restricted or general operating support, 100 percent of your bequeathed amount will go directly to the Morgridge Institute for Research Foundation.

If you are making a restricted bequest, we recommend that your attorney include the following provision to give the Morgridge Institute for Research Foundation flexibility should it no longer be possible for the Morgridge Institute for Research to use your gift as you originally intended:

If, in the judgment of the Board of Trustees at the Morgridge Institute for Research Foundation, Inc., it shall become impossible for the Morgridge Institute for Research Foundation to use this bequest to accomplish the specific purposes of this bequest, the Morgridge Institute for Research Foundation may use the income and principal of this gift for such purpose or purposes as the Board determines is most closely related to the restricted purpose of my bequest.
